(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Aug. 19.—(Havas News Agency)—The German press is attempting to reassure the Germans that the general retreat was necessary on the western front to allow the offensive on a vast scale, according to newspapers. GOES TO INDIANA TO JOIN RAILWAY ENGINEER CORPS

Joe Arnold, the popular auditor and office manager of the MacNamara Mining and Milling company, has enlisted with the railroad engineering regiment now training at Camp Benjamin Harrison, on the outskirts of Indianapolis and will leave for that station Wednesday morning. Mr. Arnold filed his application some time ago and orders authorizing his enlistment came to the Nye county exemption board direct from Washington. Mr. Arnold has been one of the most active members of the Elks and Masonic circles knew him also as an indefatigable worker whose energies were never exhausted when it came to promoting the interests of these fraternities.

The news that the volunteer is an old railroad man will come as a surprise to those who know him as the active head of several mining companies but his record proves that he is no novice in the world of transportation.

Joe Arnold was born at Washington, Pa., 1889, and was first employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Pittsburgh, Pa. When of the age of that road took charge of the Tonopah & Goldfield railroad he left Pittsburgh to accept a position with the latter road. Later he was with the Southern Pacific company at Oakland Pier as assistant car distributor and also with the Illinois Central in the San Francisco office. He was private secretary to the traffic manager of the Standard Oil company at which time he was offered the position of auditor with the MacNamara Mining and Milling company at Tonopah, which position he has held during the entire operation of that mine. During the time that it was closed down Mr. Arnold was employed by the various Chandler properties, viz: North Star, Rescue, West End and Halfax.

RUSS PREPARING TO DECLARE WAR ON THE ALLIES

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 19.—The Dusseldorf Nachrichten's Petrograd correspondent quotes the Russian newspaper Uravda as saying: "The Soviet government will declare war on the entente allies' countries. Preparations have been made to give the government offices there."

WILL R. IDEN GOES TO JOIN THE ARMY

Will R. Iden, registered pharmacist, who enlisted three weeks ago in the United States navy in his professional capacity, was escorted to the station this morning en route to San Francisco where he takes up his new duties. Will is a member of the Elks and Knights of Columbus, but the date of his departure was obscured by the official announcement last week that no more men would be accepted either as volunteers or through draft channels and it was not until 8 o'clock that the patriotic citizens were aroused to action. With the drilling received during the past three weeks in turning out on short notice there was no trouble in organizing. The Tonopah Musicians Union mustered a dozen men but was short a bass drummer. That defect was supplied by impressing an accommodating gentleman into the service and it may be said that he acquitted himself with as much gusto as though to the manor born.

The Red Cross ladies were out in force, the boy scouts were represented by Private Patrick Connor, who constituted himself color bearer without guards. The girl scouts are at camp but there was enough enthusiasm among the unorganized scores who fell in and marched to the depot to make up for the break in the regular proceedings. It was a spontaneous gathering that honored the young man who volunteered to join the colors. At the station, W. B. Evans, esteemed local knight, Tonopah lodge R. P. O. E. No. 1062, took the platform and delivered a pretty heart to heart talk that made everybody feel as though a member of their own family was going away. Addressing the candidate he called him Bill, saying he was proud to be another bill himself as nobody thought of calling him anything but Bill Evans, but better than that was the fact that both were members of that great family of Bills, better known as the Best People on Earth. The remarks were applauded heartily and everybody congratulated Mr. Iden who had plenty of time to greet his friends and receive greetings owing to the lateness of the train in arriving from Goldfield. True to orders the whistles all turned loose at 9:30 and still the train was not in and the sonorous chorus was repeated again at 10:10 as the train pulled out.

CONFLICTING REPORTS ABOUT THE DEATH OF MRS. CHARLES WILLIAMS

Willie Jack, the fourteen-year-old Indian boy charged with killing Mrs. Chas. Williams at Hicks' station, is in jail awaiting action by the district attorney on what further action to take. Harry Atkinson, district attorney, and Dr. Richards left Tonopah yesterday for Duckwater for the purpose of conducting a legal examination into the facts connected with the killing of the woman. The homicide has brought into existence two factions with headquarters respectively at Duckwater and Hot Creek. The latter are decidedly in favor of the boy while the former are positively hostile and anxious to make an example of the alleged culprit by lynching on the spot. This sentiment was evidenced so strongly Saturday that Justice Dunne who had the prisoner in charge was urged by George Dugan to make his getaway from the neighborhood as quickly as possible as the buckaroos and sheepherders were showing an ugly spirit.

Willie Jack says he called at the Williams ranch to ask for food as there was nobody at the nearest Indian ranch about two miles away and that he was told to get off the premises and look elsewhere. Returning later with the same request the boy says Williams drew his rifle and began shooting, inflicting two wounds, one in the chest and the other taking one finger off the right hand. Then the boy says he fired in self defense, but did not know that he killed the woman.

Sheriff Thomas, who took an Indian trailer from Round Mountain, says there was an old feud between the brother of Willie, known as Wild Indian, and Williams, and that the boy was simply the instrument of the elder in trying to kill Williams in support of this theory he explains that the lad first concealed himself on a mountain about 800 feet high and some distance from the house, where he could catch Williams. Finding that he could not get a good aim from that height he came down and took up a position on a small butte back of the Williams chickenhouse. The butte was about 70 feet high and so close that it would be easy for any one to pick off a person in the Williams ground. The presence of the boy on the high mountain was confirmed by finding a pair of shoes
